

Contents

Acknowledgement .....	9
Preface .....	11
1. Introduction .....	13
1. Synopsis .....	13
2. Current Status of Philosophy of Religion .....	18
3. Swinburne's Interest and the Novelty of his Project .....	27
2. Rationality of Religious Belief .....	33
1. The Notion of Belief .....	33
2. Rationality as Epistemic Justification of Belief.....	42
3. Criteria of Assessment of Probability .....	53
4. The Case of Religious Beliefs .....	58
5. Necessity of Investigation.....	65
3. Rationality of Theism .....	71
1. Saying that there is a God .....	71
2. Inductive Probability of Theism .....	94
3. Human Search for Ultimate Explanation .....	102
4. Justification of the Inductive Probability of Theism .....	107
4. Rationality of the Christian Faith .....	117
1. Notion of Christian Faith .....	117
2. The Goals of Religion.....	133
3. Christianity and the Attainment of the Goals of Religion .....	138
4. Christianity vis-a-vis other Religions .....	148
5. Critical Reflections .....	157
1. Recapitulation .....	157
2. Merits of Swinburne's Endeavour.....	161
3. Problematic Issues .....	168
4. Swinburne: a Disciple of Thomas Aquinas?.....	193
5. Limits of Swinburne's Endeavour .....	198
Bibliography .....	207
Index of Names .....	221