
Abstract

The short paper wants to remark the geopolitical aspects and their impact on the history of the missions, with special reference to the case of the Ancient Nubia. In this new light, the Author would like to give some hints about the history of "geopolitics of religion".

The Evangelizing Missions of Ancient Nubia. An Example of Geopolitics of Religions in the Justinian Age

The short paper wants to remark the geopolitical aspects and their impact on the history of the missions, with special reference to the case of the Ancient Nubia. In his new light, the Author would like to give some hints about the history of "geopolitics of religion".

Keywords: Nubian kingdoms conversion to Christianity; byzantine missions; geopolitics and missions